

Master Welcome Day

October 9th, 2023

4:30 – 6:00pm

Ludwig-Boltzmann Lecture Hall

We're excited to welcome all new students enrolled in our Master Physics, Master Computational Science and Physics Master Teacher Training programs. We invite you as well as all advanced students to a Master Welcome Day.

What to expect:

- Specific information on the study plans.
- Guidelines for course and exam registrations.
- Information about recognition of prior study achievements.
- Information about the master's thesis.
- Offers for academic writing.

Moreover, this event is a golden opportunity to connect with fellow students, both new and from advanced semesters.

For those of you new to our Faculty, we have organized tours of our building and the library. It's a chance to familiarize yourself with the environment at which you study and research during the coming semesters.

We look forward to welcoming you!
